These are some of the packages that are missing: com.google.android.gms com.google.firebase.ml.contrib.common com.google.firebase.ml.contrib.feature How can I add these missing packages to my APK so it will appear as a new version of my app on Google Play? A: I was able to successfully add these missing packages to my APK by following the steps below: Generate a signed APK. Open the APK and select "Properties". Select "Android" from the left menu bar. Click the "Signing" tab at the top. Click the "Advanced" tab. Click "Add". In the "Keystore Password:" field, type in a new password and click OK. Click "OK" to save the changes. In the "Key alias:" field, type in a name for this key and click OK. Click "OK" to save the changes. Select the "Key store file" radio button. Click the "OK" button to save the changes. Navigate to the folder where you saved your keystore file and double click the file to open it. Click the "Open" button. Click the "OK" button. In the "Keystore Password:" field, type in a new password and click OK. Click "OK" to save the changes. In the "Key alias:" field, type in a name for this key and click OK. Click "OK" to save the changes. In the "Type:" field, select "Android" and click OK. Click the "OK" button to save the changes. Click the "Install" button. The issue that I had was when I was trying to add a keystore file that I created a while back and I was using the wrong password.
