Each program will consist of a serial number, an IP address, a username and password, an executable and a configuration file. The configuration file allows the user to activate a special features. To activate it the program should copy the configuration file to the specific folder which is activated and the IP address/serial number of the program has to be changed. Currently I use the file system to control this which has turned out to be troublesome since I am forced to design a file management system and that is a pain. What I want to do is to make it possible for the user to control the entire application via GUI, SSH or Terminal over the network. Basically the user should have a GUI which the user can click a button and the program is activated. So all the files and folders of the program should
