Official Agent DVR Site Agent DVR is a lightweight piece of software designed for anyone looking to enhance the surveillance camera security system infrastructure. The application works as a Windows service and does not include an interface per se, but rather you need to create an account and access the vast array of features from there. The advantage of a web interface is that enables you to access it from any device, including high-end Android and iOS mobiles with a 3G Internet connection or better. It is worth mentioning that the program is portable and, since it does not rely on port forwarding, you can access it from anywhere. Simply put, the tool allows remote access, so you do not need to be in front your PC to check the notifications or footage. Nevertheless, according to the developer, the tool is completely secure and the connection is encrypted with an end to end SSL algorithm. Among the features of the utility, you can count live view of an unlimited number of cameras with the possibility to recognize people, face and even your pets, providing that your surveillance devices include such capabilities. At the same time, it enables automatic tag recording using the Google Vision API and is compatible with a wide variety of cameras.
